

Experts in the job

Duration:	1 day
Course type:	To be determined
Trainers:	For this module we invite 2 natural scientists who are professionally active in an area relevant to the participants' interests.
Number of participants:	12

This seminar can be tailored to a female-only or mixed audience.

Two scientists are invited, who made it to a top position in e. g. industry, a governmental institute or patent law, but are still close enough to the target group in age so they can be related to. They will tell about their personal experiences, the challenges they met and how they coped with them. The speakers can provide a presentation to underscore key facts, but will focus on a strongly interactive session. A panel discussion with both speakers will round off the day.
